One Hundred and Thirteenth Commencement

Saturday, May 22, 1976

Ten o'clock

Welcome

A cordial welcome to relatives, friends, students, faculty, and alumni who gather here today to celebrate Bryant College's One Hundred and Thirteenth Commencement.

Academic Heraldry

The caps, gowns, and hoods worn today in these Commencement Exercises are patterned after the attire of monks and students in the Middle Ages. Those who have earned the bachelor's degree wear a gown and a semistiff yoke, long pleated front, intricate shirring across the shoulders and back, which is also distinguished by long, pointed sleeves. The holder of a master's degree wears a similar gown, with long or short oblong sleeves which hang down in the traditional manner and open at the wrist. Those possessing the doctor's degree wear gowns with broad velvet panels down the front and three velvet bars on the full, round, open sleeves. This velvet trimming may be either black or the color distinctive of the field of learning represented by the degree.

Most of the colors and meanings of the costumes are found in the hoods. These are silk-lined with the color or colors of the institution conferring the degree. The border of the hood is velvet and its color signifies the field of learning to which the degree pertains.

All those taking photographs of graduates are asked to stand in space reserved on the left, facing the platform.

(The Bryant Commencement honors certified graduates and degree candidates who have been scheduled to complete course work by May 21, 1976.)

DOCTOR OF SCIENCE OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

MALCOLM S. FORBES

President, Forbes Magazine

Born in Brooklyn, New York, Malcolm Forbes spent his youth in Englewood, New Jersey. After graduating from Lawrenceville School in 1937, he enrolled at the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University. He graduated in 1941 and was awarded the Class of 1901 Medal "as the member of the class who contributed the most to Princeton as an undergraduate."

Two days after his college graduation, Malcolm Forbes became the owner and publisher of the Fairfield Times Weekly Newspaper of Lancaster, Ohio. The following year he founded the Lancaster Tribune. A World War II hero, Mr. Forbes embarked on a political career in New Jersey in 1949, serving as state senator from 1951-1958. He was the unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor in 1957.

During the 1960's, Malcolm Forbes concentrated on Forbes Magazine, founded by his Scottish father. During this time he began diversifying his company's holdings to reflect his own broad range of interests, which included art, motorcycles, and exotic real estate.

Malcolm Forbes started motorcycle riding at age forty-eight; at fifty-two he took up ballooning. Soon after his first balloon ride he set up a balloon ascension division of Forbes, Inc., and in 1973 Malcolm Forbes became the first person to fly successfully from coast to coast in one hot air balloon.

Despite his many extracurricular activities, Malcolm Forbes remains an active editor of his magazine, and for each issue he writes an opinion column of short but sprightly pieces called "Fact and Comment." He began contributing some twenty-five years ago to the "Fact and Comment" column founded by his father, and he now continues the family tradition by handing over part of the column to his son, Malcolm, Jr. Malcolm Forbes has been described as "larger than life."

He is married to the former Roberta Remsen Laidlaw. They are the parents of four sons and a daughter.
